

Three days St. Moritz Running Festival are over. Sweat, emotions, tired legs, too much sun, fun, excitement, tears, laughter, and enjoyment... Sport moves.

Today, Sunday, 55 runners started the last stage of "Crossing Engiadina". The "Trail da Lej". With 26.9km and 1296m altitude, the hardest but maybe also one of the most beautiful routes of the multistage run. The winners can be guessed. Anna Hahner and Alessandro Santini seized the win over all three stages. Also, ON-Runner Timo Schröder defended his place on the pedestal.

The legendary "Engadiner Sommerlauf" pulled 583 people to run the 25.5km. It felt like one of the warmest days of the year today, but the route fortunately took the runners through the beautiful forests, where they could cool off a bit in the shade of the pine trees. Kenyan Isaac Kipkemboi Too won in the overall ranking men with only 1:20.36,2h. Italian runner Ivana Iozzia was with 1:39.55,4h the fastest woman. That was clearly only because Isaacs legs are quite a bit longer.

The "Muragl Lauf" seems to be an easy one with only 12km. However, speed counts even more. Swiss runner Beatriz Caspar was the fastest woman with 45.29,6h and Filip Vercruysse from Berlin won the first place in the overall ranking men with 41.40,6. Due to an accident at the lake, the runner Isai Näff lost some of his time and was therewith nominated for the first place as well.
